

A SPECIAL EPISODE

Hello, everyone, and welcome to another episode on Rock n Roll English Episode Number 210. Baby. Oh yeah, in today's episode, I kind of speak to boom, boom cannon, about animals, in your anus, in your arse in your bum, whatever you want to say. Erm, but before we get to our conversation, I do have a couple of things to talk to you about. Because today is a very special day as membership to the Rock n Roll English family is now officially open again, remember, it only happens a couple of times a year. So just celebrate this wonderful special day. I have a present for you.

Well, actually, I suppose two... you know what, I've got three, I've got three presents for you to celebrate this special day. So sit tightly, and I will tell you what they are. So yes, this Rock n Roll English family membership is only open for 10 days. Okay, so it will close next Wednesday. So you may be saying, what is the Rock n Roll English family? Well, the answer to that question is lots of things. But I'm not going to bore you with the details here.

Okay, you can find out all of that information on the website. Today, I just want to focus on the podcast, okay, because by becoming a member to the Rock n Roll English family, you will get access to more than 600 episodes of Rock n Roll English 600 episodes that you have not listened to of this podcast, all with a transcript as well that you can read obviously, that's generally what you do with the transcripts, isn't it? You read them? So yes, as I mentioned, I want to focus on the podcast today.

And the difference between this normal Monday podcast and the family podcast because they are two different things, my friend. The main difference being that the family podcast is more personal. I talk about more personal things I say things that I don't want to say in public, let's say because this Monday podcasts anyone can listen to, can't they but to listen to the family podcast, you need to be a member and I know only a specific few people listen to that podcast. So to demonstrate this difference of the family podcast being more personal. I have a special present for you.

Okay, this is present number one, okay, the big one. It's like Christmas Day, let's say, you know, you get like a big present when you're a child, and then you get some little presents. This is the big one. Okay, so I have created another podcast for you. Okay, with lots of different bits from podcasts to demonstrate the difference between the Monday podcast and the family podcast. You may be asking why I am not playing you the podcast here.

The answer to that question is because I don't want to mention some of these things in public, as I mentioned. So I want you to go and find it, which you can find at [Rock n Roll english.com slash special](http://Rock n Roll english.com slash special), which is the show notes to this episode. The reason I'm doing this is because I know most of you won't do that. Because you have to go to the website and you have to listen to the podcast on the website.

So that podcast that demonstrates the difference between the family podcast and the Monday podcast will remain a secret to some degree because I know only about 10% of you will actually go and listen to that podcast. But if you are in that 10% of people, okay, I have created a podcast especially for you where I have taken clips from various different family podcasts where I speak about expired condoms, being at home without your parents an embarrassing story at work and a story about what I really thought about the language influencer seminar that I went to last year, but for the people that won't go to the website, which I know is most of you I have something for you as well.

Okay, this is present number two, because of the 600 episodes in the family area. I don't know about 40/50 contain an analysis let's call it have a crazy news story because you know, we don't want to talk about real news do it because that's not interesting. So we spoke about crazy news stories and these you know, are not too embarrassing. These are okay to be on the Monday episode. So here I have an episode of the Rock n Roll English family podcast for you to listen to when I spoke to boom Boom cannon about a crazy news story. Okay, so here is the present.

But before you listen, notice how my voice has changed this episode is from about two years ago and I do speak like I have some kind of mental problem. But luckily I think that problem has gone away now and I can speak normally, which is always good. Anyway, I'm going to stop talking now. Here is the conversation happy listening.

---

And it's Wednesday! So, on Wednesdays we like to talk about these crazy news stories! So I have a news story, not the most normal in the world, but I thought we could just talk about it, Boom Boom!

Cannon: Yep! Let's do it! Keen to hear it!

Martin: Ok, so... Oh, notice he said "keen"! I'm interesting to hear it! Ehm... so, I'll read the first sentence of the article: "A man from New Hampshire in America..." - always in America - that's what we say in Britain! All these crazy things, they are always happen in America! So, "a man from New Hampshire had to be transported to a hospital this afternoon after his pet squirrel..." - which is an animal you often see here in Britain, it's difficult to describe, if you don't know - look on the website! So, "had to be transported to hospital after his pet squirrel got stuck in his anal cavity". So, basically, his arse.

Cannon: Lovely! Lovely!

Martin: Yeah! Who doesn't.. you know... At least one time in their life get a squirrel stuck up their arse!

Cannon: Funnily enough as soon as you sort of started talking about this guy and his pet squirrel I just... I've not heard this story, I just had a feeling! I bet that squirrel going up his arse! If I know Martin, like I think I do, that squirrel is going up this guy's arse!

Martin: Where else could it go? Ehm, so, apparently the operator that took the call... like the emergency call... thought it was a joke! They said: "He told me that he had fallen on his pet squirrel named Slimy"... Ehm, so the name Slimy... well when something of slime is sort of... I don't know... how could we describe that, Boom Boom?

Cannon: Ehm... I was going to "goo", "goeey", but that's probably also just as hard to explain! Ehm... just a kind of sticky liquidy substance!

Martin: Yeah! So even the name - if you're calling your squirrel "Slimy" I'm already thinking: "Hm...I don't know about this!" So, Slimy was now stuck in his anus! And he said: "I was convinced it was a teenager making a prank call!" Some Rock n Roll vocabulary there! What's a prank call, Boom Boom?

Cannon: Prank? It's kind of a joke that you play on someone to trick them!

Martin: Yeah! Exactly! In this case a prank call - something that's not actually true! And apparently when they arrived there he was in his bathroom completely naked and the squirrel was just in there, basically just destroying his arse! My question is: "How did it get there?" Ehm... which the man says that he was just walking around and then he fell over and then the squirrel...when he fell over he landed on the squirrel and then he just went up his arse! And I thought: "Yeah! Is that true though? Is that true?" You have to fall very perfectly... and even if I fell on a squirrel I would imagine it would just sort of squash the squirrel! So, when I say "squash" like, well, I could even kill the squirrel! Like you squash like a mosquito for example! I very much doubt it would enter your arsehole if you fell on it!

Cannon: Yeah! The squirrel would have to be kind of ready and... poised... just head up the arse!

Martin: Yeah! Exactly! It must be jumping up there! Notice he said: "poise" there, which basically is another way to say: "to be in a ready state to do something". Exactly! So it must have been ready to jump straight in there! And another thing I thought... Well, I don't really... I've never really had pets...is... do you walk around naked with a pet? The only pet that I ever had was my rabbit Gismo, God rest his soul! He died in... I don't know... probably '97. Terrible day for me, but anyway, let's...

Cannon: Move on!

Martin: keep... move on before I get emotional! Ehm... the rabbit generally lived in the garden, though! So I didn't really walk around naked! But I know you've had a dog in your...

Cannon: Yeah!

Martin: Did you spend much time with you dog naked?

Cannon: Ehm... I should probably be careful I say here 'cause it could sound a bit weird, but I would say I was... you know, I was relaxed around the dog, let's put it that way!

Martin: I'd feel very uncomfortable around any animal naked because they could jump at you any moment, I could fall over and then they could end up in my arse! There are just so many... so many different things that could happened!

Cannon: Yeah! I mean I was relatively confident with Oscar, my old dog, that there was no kind of arse possibilities of him heading for the arse! So, if I was naked - I was naked! You know... it was fine!

Martin: Apparently though this is not such a... sort of unusual thing because animals are often found in arses, apparently! And animals that most commonly found in arses are: fish, snakes, mice... Notice there "mice " which is the plural of "mouse", it's an irregular noun! So, fish, snakes, mice or rats! And obviously squirrels! And I thought of these animals, Boom Boom - which one would you prefer to have in your arse? If you had to, obviously!

Cannon: If... ehm... Fish, snake...

Martin: ...Snake, mice or rats?

Cannon: Ehm... I'm gonna... can I say a small fish - like a goldfish? I feel that's one gonna do the least... Be the least painful!

Martin: You don't want like a whale in there, do you?

Cannon: No! Small, slippery... yeah, I'd say goldfish!

Martin: Yeah! Slippery is a nice word! As well, we actually use this for like when we're outside, the ground could be slippery and you fall over!

Cannon: Yeah!

Martin: Good choice though! I think that's what I would go for...

Cannon: You gonna got fish as well?

Martin: Yeah! Gotta... gotta be... as you said - the smaller the better! Ok? Just get it in there, get it out, as soon as possible! If anyone else wants to let us know what animal they would like up their arse - obviously please let us know! We do want to know! We are interested!

Cannon: We are definitely keen to hear that!

Martin: Yeah! Definitely keen on that one! Ok! And just remember, people, if you are naked around the animal - don't fall down, because that animal... well... you know what can happen, ok?

Cannon: Stay save! Stay save, people!

Martin: Stay save! We're trying to educate you here as well! Ok? We're trying to educate you on English and how to not get things in your arse! Ok? Anyway, Boom Boom, thanks a lot for your time!

Cannon: Thanks Martin! Cheers!

Martin: We'll see you again soon! I'll see you again tomorrow, in the meantime just keep on rocking, people!

---

Okay, so that was boom, boom cannon and me speaking about a crazy news story. So if you enjoyed that episode, go to [Rock n Roll english.com/special](http://Rock n Roll english.com/special) where you can get the big present the number one present the PlayStation, let's call it and if you go to [Rock n Roll english.com/special](http://Rock n Roll english.com/special) you will also find a transcript to this episode. That's present number three and but presents number two and three or you know just the small things it's like I mentioned at Christmas you get a PlayStation that's the big one that's present number one.

And then you get you know socks, some shower gel and this kind of stuff. That's present number two and number three. So yes, I suggest that you go to [Rock n Roll english.com/pecial](http://Rock n Roll english.com/pecial) and listen to the other podcasts the big present that I have made for you. I will speak to you all again soon people but if you have any questions about the family or anything like that, please send me a message on Facebook Instagram. Send me an email and I will be happy to answer you. I will see you all again in two weeks. But in the meantime, just keep on rockin baby!